MEXICANS QUIT TEXAS RANCHES, FEARING RANGERS

Brownsville, Sept. 11.—About 2,000 Mexicans have left this section for Mexico, according to figures obtained here today. At one ranch near Sebastian, Tex., all four Mexican families have gone, leaving their crops unharvested. Other Mexicans who own land have abandoned every thing except household goods in their effort to get back into Mexico.

Many of the Mexicans who have fled to Mexico have gone as a result of the rigid "cleanup of bad characters" by the American authorities. In the outlying sections suspicion is still so great that Mexicans found out alone at night are in great danger and a Mexican seen on horseback with a gun or a rifle at any time of the day is in danger of death. The extension of the army patrol into rural districts is reported to be reducing this suspicion and restoring more normal living conditions among both nationalities.

Two Regiments Have Border Situation In Control, Says Funston

Washington, Sept. 11.—The Mexican border situation is now under full control of federal troops, Major General Funston reported today to the war department. The arrival of the 4th cavalry brigade forced up to two full regiments between El Tigre Arroyo and Brownsville, a force sufficient, according to the general, to put down any uprising or trouble by marauding bands.

NEW STUDIES IN Y. M. C. A. SCHOOL DEPARTMENT NOW

Curriculum Is Considerably
Enlarge and Faculty Is Increased.

Plans for the coming year's work in the educational department of the Y. M. C. A. have been maturing for months, and some important courses have been added to the curriculum of the fall term which opens Sept. 23.

One of the most important additions is the Pace Standardized course in English, a high grade course in Applied business English which appeals to any man who desires the ability of expressing himself clearly and forcibly in definite, usable English. Mr. E. E. Cortright, principal of Shelton School, will have charge of the class, the first session of which will be held Tuesday, Sept. 23.

Another important addition will be a course in freehand drawing under the direction of Emil Bressgott, an artist well known in Bridgeport. Students may obtain instruction in any of the right "cleanup of bad characters" by the American authorities.

The class in Salesmanship and Business Efficiency which proved so popular last year, will be repeated this season. J. R. Jennings of the Knox School of Salesmanship, has been re-engaged by the local association, as well as by the Hartford, New Britain, Springfield, and Worcester associations, to conduct the classes in this subject. Mr. Jennings gives his full time to this work, spending one night a week in each city.

The class in Architectural Drafting and Plan Reading will begin its sixth season's work on October fourth with George Wilcox, C. E., in charge. This course promises to be more popular than ever this year, according to Mr. Keeney because of the stimulus the building trades have received through the construction of the many new factories and homes in the city.

Sam W. Davis, of the City Savings Bank, will be in charge of the Commercial course, which opens Monday October fourth. The course includes instruction in elementary and advanced bookkeeping, commercial arithmetic, spelling and penmanship. Mr. Davis has had a teaching experience of eleven years, the greater part of which has been devoted to the local Association.

The Mechanical Drafting department, which also opens the first week in October, offers both elementary and advanced instruction. The first year course will be under the direction of Theo E. Brown, foreman of the machine room at the International Silver Co. For the past six years Mr. Brown has taught this class with unequalled success. The work is based on a course compiled by Anderson W. Smith of Pratt Institute, Brooklyn, and has been found very helpful in making beginners familiar with the fundamental principles of Carl Hewitt, M. E., who will be in charge of the advanced work, was graduate from the engineering department at Cornell University in 1903. He is connected with the U. M. C. Co. of this city, and taught both last year and during the summer term in the evening school at the Association.

In the Electrical department, the first year class will begin in early October, under Harry N. Clark, of the Lake Torpedo Boat Co. The advanced course will open later in the fall.

The curriculum will also include elementary and advanced courses in English for Foreigners, an Employed Boys' School, and many other courses which will be announced later. From the interest shown, according to Mr. Keeney, classes in Spanish, Show Card writing, Algebra, geometry and trigonometry are likely to be included in the fall schedule.

In the opinion of those in charge, it is believed that the wave of industrial prosperity which has struck Bridgeport during the past year, will bring more men and young men than ever into the practical educational classes at the Association, since opportunities for advancement are more numerous than ever before for men equipped to hold higher positions.

London Times Sees End of Propagandas By Teutons in U. S.

London, Sept. 11.—The Times today in an editorial article, attacks much importance to President Wilson's affirmation of the legitimacy of American trade in munitions in his decision regarding Dr. Dumba, "since it fore-shadows the full use of the presidential vote should Congress be weak enough to pass a bill forbidding the export of war materials."

"Dumba's dismissal," it adds, "at any rate, will convince Austro-German propagandists that there are limits even to American forbearance and that when those limits are passed retribution is apt to be swift and peremptory."

Commenting on what it terms the difficulty of understanding the American attitude which results in the first definite step taken being to punish a breach of diplomatic etiquette instead of exacting reparation for the loss of American lives, the Times says it is willing to believe some governing principle exists, although it may not be apparent to British observers and that President Wilson, having taken his stand, is not the man to be put off with any false issues.

KING OF GREECE, IN GOOD HEALTH DISCUSSES WAR

Athens, Sept. 11.—King Constantine, of Greece, received the correspondent of The Associated Press today at Chateau Dekelein, the summer residence of the Royal family at Tatoi. The King expressed regrets at his inability, owing to the present critical state of national affairs, to make any statement at this juncture respecting the policy which will be pursued by Greece.

King Constantine apparently has recovered completely from his recent illness although he is somewhat thin. He is bronzed by the summer sun and seems to be in perfect health, ready to take the saddle tomorrow in the capacity of leader of the Greek forces, should occasion require. He does not look for such a contingency, however.

For an hour the King discussed the progress of the war, showing the keenest interest. In view of the paucity of the way news published by Greek newspapers, he displayed remarkable familiarity with the details of military movements, particularly in the eastern theatre of hostilities.

Himself a soldier, the real father of the Greek army of today and the victorious leader of his nation's troops in the two Balkan wars, the King follows with technical comprehension every move of the opposing armies.

DEPUTIES CRITICIZE HANDLING OF ARMIES

Paris, Sept. 11.—Doubts have arisen in France as to the wisdom of allowing members of the Chamber of Deputies to serve in the army and while doing so return to Paris from time to time and criticize the Minister of War and the conduct of the war. Two hundred deputies, or one third of the membership of the Lower House of Parliament, are in active service, some as privates but most of them as junior officers rarely above the grade of captain. They were reserve officers before the war. A few of them are restless intriguers who in their double capacity of military men at the front who with the right to leave their commands for Paris at any time the Chamber is in session cause a great deal of embarrassment; both to their military superiors in command in the field and to the cabinet.

At Milan, the north display window furnishes evidence of the assortment of women's low priced, stylish fall shoes, that the well known house is able to offer. This is not a short sale. It is special lines of Mellan's regular, full value, low priced, fashionable shoes. The coming season footwear, for girls, boys and small children, is arriving daily, at 1025 Main street.—Adv.

STOCK MARKET

New York, Sept. 11.—Opening.—Today's stock market developed no features of interest in the early dealings. Investment issues were neglected, while war specialties manifested further reactionary tendencies. General Motors declining 4 points to 25, and Studebaker 2 1/2 to 113 1/2. Crieble Steel also was heavy at the outset but soon recovered. United States Steel changed hands in large blocks at small fractional losses. Chesapeake & Ohio was the only railroad stock to make a material change, losing a point.

Noon—Light trading with a lower price tendency featured today's brief market session. Inferences growing out of the foreign situation helped to restrain the bullish enthusiasm, even though other news was of a constructive character. Bank clearings offered further proof of business improvement and steel mills were reported as refusing additional orders, having reached the limit of capacity. The movement of stocks was narrow for the most part, war specials, however, showing decided declines from yesterday. U. S. Steel was under pressure, falling a point to 73 1/2, its low figure of the week and railroad shares were disposed to yield a point or thereabouts. The closing was heavy. Bonds were irregular.

New Factory Here Makes Stereopticon Advertising Machines

A new industrial enterprise involving Bridgeport and outside capital, which promises to become a considerable factor in the manufacturing and labor supremacy of Bridgeport has been established here and is now branching out to other cities.

Known as the Automatic Advertiser Machine Company, capitalized under the laws of Connecticut with paid up capital of $50,000. The enterprise has a good sized factory in Howard avenue near Railroad Avenue, now employing about 25 hands.

Work on the machines which are of the stereopticon type, automatically showing views and advertisements on a screen, have passed the experimental stage and the first machine is to be placed on exhibition in windows of the new Sagal Building, Main and Gold streets on Monday next.

So successful has the local company's campaign been that offices are now being established in Albany and western cities and it is expected that contracts for between 400 and 500 special machines will be begun at the factory within three weeks time.

Those closely identified with the venture are Prof. E. E. Takman, M.E., a graduate of the Royal Polytechnic University of Stockholm, inventor of the machine, W. H. R. Dubois, formerly president of the board of aldermen, Charles Phillips and Fallon & Greenstein, attorneys for the company.
